

CASE HISTORY

VAT ADVICE AND TRAINING HELPED MANY DOCTORS TAKE ON NEW LEGISLATION WITHOUT PROBLEMS

Prior to 2006, GPs did not have to register for VAT; hence very few medical centres understood the system. When the rules changed, requiring doctors to register if their practice fell within certain parameters of activity, Lentells launched a special advisory and training programme for 20 medical centres who did qualify. This, combined with ongoing support, allowed all Lentells medical clients to firstly understand their liability for VAT and secondly to smoothly adopt a workable system to ensure they dealt correctly with the new requirements.
